HIBERNIANS

Hold Their Biennial County Convention and Elect Officers.

William Connelly Succeeds Councilman Thos. Dolan as President.

Resolutions Express Appreciation of the Kentucky Irish American.

GENEROUS PRESIDENT HENNESSY

The biennial county convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Louisville and Jefferson county was held in Bertrand Hall last Sunday afternoon and well attended, all the divisions being largely represented. President Thomas Dolan occupied the chair and the proceedings were mostly of a purely business character. John J. Barry, of Division 4, reported the results of the theatrical engagement at the Masonic Theater, which proved a great success, and was tendered a rising vote of thanks for his invaluable services. The reports of all county officers for the past two years having been heard and unanimously approved, County President Dolan announced that the time had arrived for the convention and election of officers, and named Martin Cusick, Con J. Ford, John Maloney and John Hennessy a Committee on Credentials, when a short recess was taken. Upon reassembling this committee reported all divisions represented by their full quota of delegates, who were seated. Other committees were then appointed as follows:

Rules—Councilman Charles J. Finegan, Daniel O'Keefe, John Maloney, John J. Barry.
Finance—Joseph Farrell, John Keane, John G. Hesston, F. J. Mooney.

Resolutions—Thomas Lawler, James Welsh, Thomas Stevens, Thomas Callahan.
The Committee on Rules recommended the adoption of the rules of the last convention, which was concurred in. The Finance Committee reported the books and accounts of the past year, which were audited and found correct. The committee also reported on the financial condition of the order, which was found to be in a satisfactory state.

Another handicap to the Democratic ticket locally was the support of the Evening Post, this being the first time in history they ever supported a winner, and only here by a close margin, while in the Eleventh district their bitter opposition to Caleb Powers gave him a handsome victory. It is freely predicted that Editor Knott had not tried to climb on the band wagon early in the campaign, on second thought he would have supported the Progressives, and is now kicking himself all around the editorial sanctum on account of the credit absorbed by the Herald for the new party's support here.

The public as a whole are not sorry to see the shakeup coming in the Custom House, as that institution has needed a house cleaning for some time, certain officials using their offices for persecution of those who did not agree with them politically or religiously. One notable exception to that rule is Marshal George Long, whose unfailing courtesy to all classes won him friends on all sides, and if put to a popular vote he would be retained in office by a handsome majority.

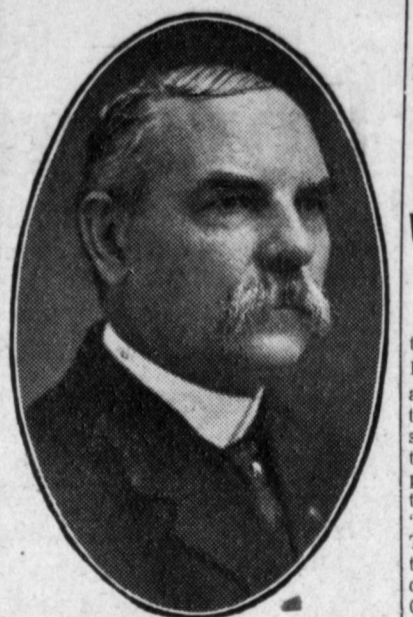

The vote in the school race Tuesday was a decided setback to the Junior Order, Daughters of America, Daughters of Liberty and other kindred organizations who were confident of defeating Englehard and Strother for re-election. William S. Markoff, one of the Junior Order leaders in a visit to the Kentucky Irish American office two weeks ago boasted that they had the school race wrapped up for Bartholomew and Zimmerman. Their support proved deadly to these latter two gentlemen, and it is believed that if the Old Glory boys had kept hands off these two gentlemen would have won easily.

The air has been filled with the loud boasts and brags of the Bull Moosers the past few days in regard to what they would do in the local election next year, but do not seem to be taking into account that they have lost their most valuable asset, as Roosevelt is not eligible to run in Louisville next year. The Democrats will certainly shatter their fond delusions when the time comes.

NOVEMBER WEDDING.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Lena Hill, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hill, 420 South Twenty-second street, and Arthur J. Spalding, a prominent resident of Cox's Creek. Their marriage will be solemnized with a nuptial high mass at St. Anthony's church on Tuesday morning, November 26, and will be an event of interest in German Catholic society circles. The ceremony will be performed by Very Rev. Monsignor Edward L. Spalding, rector of the Cathedral at Alton, Ill., a brother of the groom. After the Madison avenue and Twelfth street, which is being built under the direction of Bishop Maes. The official home of the Bishop will be of the Gothic type of architecture, to harmonize with St. Mary's Cathedral, which adjoins on the north. In the rear of the office building will be the living quarters of Bishop Maes and his staff, the same being a separate building. That part now under construction contains a reception hall, meeting room, secretary's office and chancery on the first floor. The second story is partitioned off into a chapel and library. The exterior will be of stone, brick and terra cotta.

CALLS JUDGE.

Chairman Tierney Resents Charges Against Police.

While instructing the grand jury this week Judge Gregory cast reflections upon the police department, which brought forth from Edward T. Tierney, Chairman of the Board of Safety, the following response:

"Judge Gregory is quoted as saying: 'I have been told as coming direct from the police officers that if they were allowed to do their duty they could break up gambling in a very short time in this city. There is no police officer, of whatever rank, if he has any manhood in him, who is not at liberty to go ahead despite the law.'

Capt. John Kirley, Fergus Kennedy, John Morris, John Maloney, Thomas Manion, Jack O'Bannon, Thomas Callahan and John Kern, members of the No. 1 hook and ladder company, and Jack Dalton and W. W. Woody, two reporters, had a miraculous escape while making a run to a fire last Sunday night. The truck was answering an alarm from Eighth and Chestnut. Morris was driving the horses at a rapid rate of speed south on Eighth street and was half way over the intersection when a rapidly moving car hit the truck. The firemen noticed the car, but thought it would stop, as the siren horn and the gong were being sounded. Motorman J. W. Stone states, it is alleged, that he did not hear the gong until the truck came into sight, and that he then reversed the motor but was unable to stop the car. The truck was wrecked and all the men suffered injuries, the accident putting the entire company out of commission. Fortunately the passengers on the car sustained only slight bruises, the vestibule being smashed and the car turned northward. Capt. Kirley and John Maloney suffered the worst injuries, the former sustaining a broken rib. Ambulances were called and removed the firemen, who hope to be soon again at their posts. The hook and ladder truck was so badly damaged that it will have to be rebuilt.

GONE TO REST.

Miss Mary E. Sheridan Called to Eternal Home.

A beautiful character was called to her eternal home Monday morning in the person of Miss Mary Catherine Sheridan, daughter of Anthony J. Sheridan, freight agent for the Louisville & Nashville railroad, who died at her home, 221 East St. Catherine street, of tuberculosis. Miss Sheridan was a niece of the late Father John Sheridan, of Holy Cross church. She was widely known throughout the city and was a lifelong member of the Cathedral congregation. Her illness was of long duration, but endured with the greatest patience and resignation to the will of the Most High. Her preparation for the final summons and the fervor with which she received the sacraments of the church will be a beautiful memory to those who are left to mourn her loss. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Cathedral with high requiem mass. To the bereaved father and brother sympathy is extended. May her soul rest in peace.

ALL SOULS' DAY.

The All Souls' day observance in the Catholic cemeteries of this city, Jeffersonville and New Albany last Sunday were largely attended, and at each the exercises were of most impressive character.

MINISTER

Who Is Not Scared by the Encroachments of Rome.

He Enlivened a Solemn Session of the Free Religious Association.

Bishop of Chicago Lines Up Whenever the Bell Rings.

WILL STAY IN THE MAIN STREAM

There was a solemn session a short time ago in Boston of the Free Religious Association. It has met annually for the last forty-five years to persuade people to adopt a certain set of religious views approved by the association—a proceeding not precisely in harmony with the professions of a society that calls itself "Free," says the Brooklyn Tablet. The speakers on this occasion were the Rev. Charles W. Wendte, a name only indirectly American; Prof. Jean C. Braque, a Frenchman; L. P. Jacks, M. A., an Englishman from Oxford; Rushdon Ruston, a Zoroastrian from Bombay, and Dr. Fleischer, "a spiritual and moral force in Boston," who complains that he can not get the ear of the public. The morning theme was "State and Church in America."

All these gentlemen, so wonderfully qualified by their varied religious and the diversity of their race, education, foreign impressions and environment to legislate for the religious moods of Americans, were anxiously pre-occupied during the meeting by the danger that was hanging over the imagination over this country. It was the clericalism of the "Roman" church. They were convinced that it had dark designs on the Government. They saw the shadowy spectre all over the land, and they were filled with the gloomiest forebodings for the future of the republic. The meeting was like a spiritualistic séance.

At last there came on the platform an orator from the broad and breezy West, the Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, the well known Protestant minister part of the bureau.

One of the leading features will be the Holy Name booth, where Father McGovern will preside and be assisted by a corps of earnest men workers. Here there will be a miscellaneous collection of articles, ranging from the fancy article to stoves, furniture and everything useful in the home, ranging in price from ten cents up.

Another interesting feature will be the Blessed Virgin Sodality booth, presided over by Father LaPlante and the young ladies, and which will doubtless be the mecca of the bazar. Fancy articles of every description will be found here, and as this is a good time to buy Christmas articles none should fail to visit this booth. The young ladies are taking a great interest in the bazar, and will be more than pleased to have you call and see them.

Most attractive will be the booth of the Altar Society and Third Order, where Father Baxter and the members will have a real Irish welcome for those who will spend an hour with them. They have secured for their tables a great variety of articles, both useful and ornamental, and at the prices marked they expect to do a rushing business and be in the lead from the start. Here will be found numerous beautiful hand-made articles for the ladies.

Father Parent will direct the school booth and fish-pond, and it is safe to predict this will be the real live one. At this booth you will be able to secure anything from a shoestring up. The young folks here will have some surprises for their elders and promise to be in good place when the results are made known at the close.

The married ladies of the congregation will have charge of the refreshments and have arranged a comfortable cozy island. There will be plenty of refreshments, the menu including everything from ham sandwiches and coffee to a meal that will appease the most epicurean appetite. Ice cream, cakes, sodas, etc., will be served also. These ladies have been working zealously, and it is hoped their efforts will not be unavailing. In connection with the bazar there will also be a general table under the auspices of the Holy Name men, Catholics from all parts of the city should attend at least one night, as this promises to be the big fair of the season.

ORATORY

Held Sway at Meeting of Mackin Council Monday.

Oratory with periodical flights of eloquence that would do credit to a political campaign made interesting the meeting of Mackin Council last Monday night, when the subject of municipal ownership was debated from every angle. Messrs. Al Link and Clyde Graven had the affirmative, being opposed by Luke S. Cuniff and John Barry. The victory went to the first two, the only point board the Caronia, and said in reply to an inquiry: "I am going to New York prepared to challenge for the America's cup after discussing the terms under the latest rules of the American yacht clubs." The race, if it should be arranged, can not take place before next year, as ten months must elapse between the sending in of the challenge and the race. Sir Thomas Lipton's three unsuccessful attempts to carry off the cup were made in 1899, 1901 and 1906, with Shamrock I, II, and III, respectively. Since the last race a new code of rules has come into force, and it is to consider the effect of these in connection with the American yacht clubs that Sir Thomas is now coming to America.

HONORED.

Col. P. H. Callahan Chosen National Vice President.

Members of the Louisville Paint Club and his many friends here and throughout the country were much pleased when they received news Saturday that Col. P. H. Callahan, President of the Louisville Varnish Company, was elected Vice President of the National Paint, Oil and Varnish Association at the annual convention of that organization in New York City. The association is composed of practically all his paint, oil and varnish manufacturers in the United States and has between 500 and 600 members. It is customary for the Vice President to be elected president of the association the year following his first elevation. Col. Callahan has been President of the Louisville Paint Club for several years, and his fellow workers are elated over the additional distinction that has been accorded him.

RECENT DEATHS.

Monday afternoon death claimed Mrs. Mary Myhan, wife of John Myhan, 207 East Walnut street, and the news caused inexpressible grief to her friends and relatives. Mrs. Myhan was twenty-one years old, and besides her husband leaves one child. Her funeral took place Wednesday morning from St. Patrick's church, from where the remains were taken to New Albany for interment.

John Axman, thirty-two years old, an employee of the Frank Fehr Brewing Company and widely known and popular, succumbed Sunday evening to organic heart disease at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frances Axman, 442 Fehr avenue. Besides his mother four brothers and a sister survive him. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Boniface church, of which he had been a faithful member.

Mrs. Julia Mills, aged forty-four years, died early Wednesday morning at her residence, 518 North Twelfth street. Four months ago her husband died, and to the shock and grief that followed is attributed the attack of pneumonia which caused her death. Mrs. Mills was held in high esteem by her neighbors and was ever ready to assist those in need. Surviving her are four sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held this morning from St. Patrick's church.

John J. Fahy, one of the oldest and most highly respected members of St. Paul's parish, died Monday afternoon at his residence, 917 South Hancock street. For thirty-two years he had been a faithful and popular employee of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, and the news of his death was received with expressions of sympathy for the bereaved family. The funeral was held Wednesday morning, Rev. Father Thomas York celebrating the solemn mass of requiem and preaching a feeling sermon on death.

LEXINGTON.

Rev. Father William Punch, pastor of St. Peter's church at Lexington, is making elaborate preparations for December 1. On that day there will be a celebration in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the dedication of the old St. Peter's and the seventy-fifth anniversary of the present church, which was dedicated on Sunday, December 8, 1837.

BIGOT

From New Albany Attempts to Engender Religious Prejudice in Louisville.

Employed by L. & N. Here But Strictly Opposed to Foreign Labor.

Proves Good Foil For Evening Post Editor With A. P. A. Views.

WHALLEN'S AUTOCRATIC POWER

The following is taken from the Evening Post of Tuesday and republished for the benefit of those who may not have seen or heard of it:

The Press and the Catholic Church. Editor Evening Post:

In your "In Our Mail Bag" department, issue of Friday, October 4, 1912, you printed a letter under the caption, "The Tariff and the Woolen Mills," signed by "Woolen Mill Foreman." I read this letter with great interest, especially your response to same; it was also enjoyed by several friends to whom I showed it.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that you evade a question asked by "Woolen Mill Foreman." The gentleman asks in very simple lines, "Why don't you support the present bill in Congress to restrict immigration?" Why is it that Congress is too cowardly to pass a stricter law to keep out those paupers? Is it because Rome objects to it, or is it some other reason? Also the gentleman states, "My opinion is that Rome controls most of the newspapers in this country, and also most of the Congressmen."

I take it the writer of that letter by "Rome" refers to the Roman Catholic church. Are you an American newspaperman, as you pretend to be, or are you submissive to the will of the Pope at Rome, that you dare not even hint at Romanism in answering a plain, straightforward question concerning Rome? In your response you refer only to "foreign labor," and that could very properly embrace any religious denomination. You boast of a policy of "public welfare," and I understand that to mean that you will support the bill in Congress to restrict immigration and the clergy, who have been sent to all the clergy of the diocese. The Very Rev. James P. Cronin, Vicar General of the diocese, and the Rev. Father E. M. Bachmann, chaplain of St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, will be deacons of honor. Following the blessing of the building the entire body will return to the church for solemn benediction.

An elaborate banquet will be spread in the new hall at the conclusion of the exercises. Covers will be laid for 330 guests, who will assemble promptly at 8 o'clock. Invitations have been sent to Gov. McCreary, Lieut. Gov. McDermott, Mayor Head and many other city and State officials. Many men and women of other denominations also have been invited. The Rev. Father George Schumann, D. D., will be the master of ceremonies. During the progress of the banquet a choir of children will render patriotic songs under the direction of Sister Mary Gretchen. Miss Gertrude Simpson will be the accompanist. Following is the menu for the banquet:

Green Turtle A L'Anglaise
Celery Salted Almonds Olives
Baked Whitefish, Point Sherry
Sauterne Potatoes Parisien
Mashed Potatoes
Young Turkey Cranberry Sauce
French Peas
Claret
Brick Ice Cream Layer Cake
Rochefort and Swiss Cheese
Wafers Crackers
Demi Tasse Cognac
Cigars

Withorst Hall was thrown open for public inspection last Monday, and in every way meets expectations. The structure is two stories in height and is built of brick and iron, being fire-proof throughout. On the lower floor are three schoolrooms, a clubroom, kitchen, with a boiler room and storeroom in the basement. On the upper floor is the hall, where are to be given the social and educational functions of the congregation. There is more than 3,000 square feet of floor space, with a stage at one end of the hall. A gallery seats 100 persons. There also are a library, check room and dressing rooms on the second floor. The hall will be used for the meetings of the societies of the church, for dances and other gatherings. It is expected by the pastor to provide a meeting place for the young people of the church. The first affair to be given will be a bazar November 18-23.

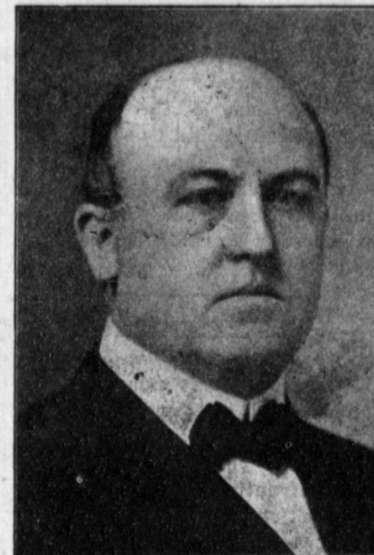

UNVEILED.

Monument to John Locke, the Gifted Irish Poet.

The monument in Calvary cemetery, New York, erected to the memory of John Locke, the gifted Irish poet and novelist, was unveiled with much ceremony last Sunday afternoon. Patrick J. Haltigan, editor of the National Hibernian and reading clerk of the House of Representatives, delivered the oration on Whallen" does not come from Rome. It comes from the Democrats of Louisville. It is based, as we believe, on the saloon vote chiefly; on the Catholic vote only as it is a Democratic vote and on the organization vote controlled by patronage.

It is noticed that he combines the saloon and Catholic vote, but neglects to state that Catholics locally have been driven unanimously from the local Republican ranks, one of the Republican leaders here being David B. G. Rose, business manager and partner of Mr. Knott in the Evening Post, and also official head of the Guardians of Liberty in Kentucky. The wily editor also failed to state that not a single Catholic has been given a place on the Republican ticket in the last several years, the A. P. A. and Junior Order element having almost autocratic power in making the nominations.

County President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

LAI'D TO REST.

Rear Admiral L. Young Is Buried in Arlington Cemetery.

The body of Rear Admiral Lucien Young, U. S. A., a native of Lexington, Ky., who died in New York, was laid to rest in Arlington National cemetery in Washington Monday morning with the military honors due his rank. The Rev. Father O'Hern, of the Catholic University, pronounced the last rites. A firing party of soldiers fired a volley over the grave. The body of the admiral was borne to the cemetery by a caisson, and the solemn jubilee of his ordination to the holy priesthood. Never did St. Boniface church present a more brilliant sight than at the jubilee mass, at which there was a large gathering of clergy and a vast congregation. The venerable and beloved Franciscan has spent his life in the service of the church, and his needs of the faithful in the St. John province. He was born in Oldenburg, Germany, January 26, 1837. Coming to this country, he entered the Franciscan order and received the habit October 4, 1850. On October 9, 1854, he made his solemn profession, and was ordained priest November 7, 1862, in the Cincinnati Cathedral by Archbishop Purcell. He was Custos of the order from August 6, 1879, until August 6, 1885. Until his transfer to Louisville this summer, he was for six years past Guardian of St. Clement convent, St. Bernard. Notwithstanding his years, Father Lucas continues in the active service of the ministry, and is frequently called upon to deliver sermons and conduct conferences for the third order. Father Gottshede was the recipient of a large number of congratulatory messages from brother priests and others throughout the country.

O'REILLY

Served His Country Well and Now Rests in Arlington.

Major Gen. Robert Maitland O'Reilly, former Surgeon General of the United States army, personal physician and intimate friend of President Cleveland, died Sunday in Washington of uremic poisoning. Gen. O'Reilly, who had been ill for some time, was born in Philadelphia in 1845 of a distinguished Irish family, settled in the United States after the Revolution. He participated in many of the stirring events of the nation's military history in the last half century. He was in the civil war as a medical cadet and saw hard service in the Indian campaigns. In the Spanish-American war Gen. O'Reilly was Chief Surgeon of the Fourth Army Corps. Gen. O'Reilly was a member of the Evacuation Commission at Havana and Chief Surgeon of the division of Cuba during the first American occupation. He ended his active career as Surgeon General of the army, serving from 1902 to 1910, when he was retired with the rank of Major General in recognition of distinguished services. The body of the dead soldier was buried in Arlington National cemetery with military honors Tuesday morning.

UNDECIDED.

On account of the many repairs on Seventh street, south of Broadway, the residents have been annoyed with veritable dust storms daily, due to a lack of sprinkling, and after several indignation meetings, the undecided as to whether they will lynch Alderman Joe Overberg or Councilman Mike McDermott and T. J. Morrow.

DEVLIN

Declares Ulster's Covenant a Bluff Against Home

Joseph Devlin, member of Parliament for West Belfast, who is known to many Louisville people, has written the following statement on the meaning of the Ulster covenant:

You ask me what is the meaning of the Ulster covenant and the probable result. It is meant to thrust dust in the eyes of the British people, to bluff them into the notion that the first consequence of the enactment of home rule will be the preparation of Carson and his followers to rebel against the authority of the Irish Parliament and the armed revolt of Ulster against any attempt to enforce the authority of that Parliament in that part of Ulster where Carson's supporters have the majority. It is an attempt to overawe the Imperial Parliament and to prevent the concession of the constitutional demand of the Irish people for home rule. Public opinion is too well informed and enlightened in England now for any such attempt to succeed.

The Ulster ascendancy party made similar threats in the which came to nothing. They threatened civil war if Catholic emancipation was granted in 1829. They threatened to kick the Queen's crown into the Boyne if the Protestant church in Ireland was disestablished, and on practically every occasion of reform their threats have been repeated. They proved only to be idle words, and there is no reason why the present threats should prove otherwise. Civil war in Ulster would mean civil ruin for those responsible. The home rule bill provides for the continued representation of Ireland in the Imperial Parliament, and the Ulster ascendancy party would be followed by even the Orangemen and reiterated it till they were discredited. The Orangemen have never having attributed any such wicked folly to the Irish Parliament. All of the home rulers almost stood aghast at this tremendous withdrawal by the Orangemen and saw almost with incredulity, though with unbounded delight, the whole of the Orange case laid in ruins by the Orange hands.

The progress of the measure was interrupted a few hours on Wednesday by the rather sudden change of front by the Ministry with regard to the Irish Senate, Premier Asquith substituting proportional representation for the old method of nomination after the first five years of non-rule. Bonar Law insisted that he had not had sufficient notice and demanded an adjournment, which Asquith was obliged by Parliamentary rules to concede. But when, on Thursday night, Bonar Law had thundered against this concession as worthless and the whole of the Tory party had repeated these denunciations, they refused to challenge a division and amid the mocking laughter of all the home rulers the change was made with universal assent. All of these events, however, the irreconcilable hostility to home rule, which the Orangemen proclaimed with such a loud beating of Orange drums, is breaking down and that the home rule measure, instead of losing ground and being battered by the debate, is marching its way steadily and triumphantly and that the bill will leave the committee stage, which is the most dangerous in the House of Commons, practically unchanged.

Next week two sharp corners are to be turned. The first will come when Philip Snowden, the English Socialist, proposes female suffrage for the Irish Parliament, but practically all the home rulers, including even the female suffragists, agree that this domestic question should be left to the Irish Parliament. The second corner will come with the proposal to give Ireland some control over the customs. This proposal excites some misgivings among the free traders, and also among some of the Scotch Federalists, who think that this clause puts difficulties in the way of Scotch home rule later on. But, though a group of twenty members canvassed these views, there is no danger of any split and the proposals of the bill, when explained and debated, will rally practically every Liberal member.

Everything is going splendidly and Premier Asquith, who looked very ill last week, now shows a face of almost boyish freshness and gaiety. John Dillon has returned to the House after his severe accident, but is still weak and exhausted. Joseph Devlin still remains on the sick list.

WELCOME VISITOR.

The Kentucky Irish American had as a visitor this week the Rev. Brother Kevin, C. S. C., of Notre Dame University. Brother Kevin spent a few days here in the interest of The Ave Maria, one of our great Catholic magazines. Before leaving he expressed himself as highly impressed with the evidences of Catholic growth in Louisville.

terly impossible, impracticable, and can any sane man suppose that the great mass will ever vote for such a system? Socialism is an insult to the laboring man. It reduces him to the condition of the brute (figuring for him mostly their great cry for food, clothing and shelter); dogs, horses and animals get that in the way of feed, blankets and place to sleep."

HELP'S IRISH CAUSE.

Before the opening of England's Parliament last Monday T. P. O'Connor, Irish statesman and member for Liverpool, declared that the tremendous problem of foreign policy confronting the Government does not seriously diminish the growing keenness and excitement among British politicians with regard to the terrific battle to begin in the House of Commons. At present the Liberal ranks are in better spirits and greater cohesion than during the closing days of the last session. Sir Edward Carson's campaign with the open threats of civil war and the appeals by himself and by his Bishops and clergymen to the bitterest and most sectarian passion have done the Liberal and Irish cause an immense service and the Liberal now demand that the Government shall promptly declare that, if such appeal lead to an outbreak of violence in Ulster, the Ministry will be ready to meet it with an overwhelming force and crush it effectually. In short, John Bull's blood is up and this play acting

LOUISVILLE.

Louisville is one of the best cities in the United States, and if not even the best it is no worse than the best. Therefore it is to be regretted that any one in high position should be continually reflecting upon its people and government, making charges upon rumor and hearsay evidence that any judge or court would rule out. Those persons who are filling the ears of those high in authority with stories of law violations should be brought before the grand jury and made to tell what they know. This would clear the situation and put an end to the "play acting" which has made its appearance, and bids fair to give our risible muscles more occupation than they have ever got from the machine-made jokes of our so-called funny papers. Indeed if its future career proves worthy of its beginning it is hard to see how we can escape "bursting our sides with laughter like a floury potato in the boll," as we witness its squirms of ferocious and impotent bigotry interlarded with the glib misrepresentations of which its kind is so prolific. Apart from its value as a mirth-maker we welcome the American Citizen because it will do for us what we would never take the trouble to do for ourselves—it will unmask the little gang of job hunters, bigots and political mountebanks who parade under the name of the Guardians of Liberty.

The Guardians and their kind are today wondering where they stand. Their threats and claims have proved futile and always will. They are not needed and should disband.

CHARACTERISTIC OF KNOTT.

On Wednesday of this week the Evening Post editor attacked the ability of the present Fire department, charging the men with incompetency and that the collision at Eighth and Walnut between the street car and hook and ladder was caused, as were previous accidents, by reckless and ignorant driving of members of the Fire department. As was proven, the street car ran into the hook and ladder while the latter was crossing the street intersection, but aside from this the driver was John Morris, a member of the department for fifteen years, and during that time had been a reel driver, engine driver and driver of the hook and ladder (even driving the Grinstead administration), and before his connection with the department drove a hack for a livelihood, which should even convince the contrary editor of the Post that he was a competent driver. In regard to the further incompetency of the Fire department, as charged by the Evening Post, the letters of praise received after every large fire are contradiction enough, and if there was an iota of fairness or justice in Editor Knott he would apologize to Chief Lehan and his brave men for his hasty and bitter screed.

STRIKING CONTRAST.

The Kentucky Irish American would impress upon all men the words of Cardinal Gibbons, who points out that if our republic is to be perpetuated, it is to be handed down unimpaired to future generations, it must rest on the eternal using improper influence behind closed doors with a judge. This rule is one of the sources of the New York Herald's strength.

SOLENN VESPERS

Close Jubilee Exercises of St. Frances of Rome Church.

St. Frances of Rome church was crowded to its very doors last Sunday evening at solemn vespers, which was the closing exercises of the day, last Sunday being the silver jubilee anniversary of the Clifton church. Rev. Father O'Neil was celebrant at the vesper services, Father Raffo acting as deacon and Father Ackermann as subdeacon. Very Rev. Father Cronin delivered the sermon and congratulated Father White, the pastor, and his congregation on the fact that they were clear of debt after many hard years of trials and struggles. Among the priests in the sanctuary were Rev. Father A. J. Brady and Rev. Father John O'Connor. St. Frances of Rome church was built in 1887, the present pastor, Father White, being appointed to take charge, he having been ordained six years previous to the building of the church.

Miss Katherine Shea, of New Albany, and J. J. Blaney, of New York, were married Monday night at Holy Trinity church, the Rev. Charles Curran, the rector, officiating. THE MOTHER.

Och, the loneliness, the wastefulness,
How empty is the scene
That greets me on the roadway
As I walk to Skibbereen;
For though I love the Shamrock
And the joys of land and sea,
My heart keeps achin', achin'
For the childer far from me.

Och! I can not be contented,
I can not dry the tears
That fill my eyes when thinkin'
Of the loneliness of years,
For aged, and worn, and wearied,
I sit and muse all day,
An' my heart keeps ever throbbin'
As my well-worn beads I pray.

There are other mothers like me,
They are scattered o'er the Isle,
For the homes are scarce in Erin,
All the youth are in exile,
And all we have to comfort us
Are the letters that we read,
But the words of love from children
Set our achin' hearts to bleed.

We moan alone in our despair,
Our thought beyond the sea,
And the crushing weight o' sorrow
Keeps pressing heavily,
For we know the childer won't come back,
Their lives are spent for love,
That their mothers may have shelter
Until they're called above.
—Josephine Byrne Sullivan.

GUINNESS

Ambitious to Step Into Breach For American Can Cap.

If Sir Thomas Lipton had not decided to make an attempt to lift the America's cup another Irishman, the Hon. Rupert Guinness, of the big brewing firm of Dublin, Ireland, was inclined to step into the breach. Among his many activities yachting has always claimed a considerable share of the Hon. Rupert's attention, and for quite a number of years he has made no secret of his ambition to try and secure that cup. He says now that should the genial Sir Thomas fail to come to terms with the New York yachting authorities he is prepared to come along at short notice and build the necessary boat. Apart from the glory that would attach to the restoration of the cup to England, the heir to the Iveagh millions feels that his political popularity would be very materially enhanced if he succeeded in the exploit.

In any case lack of money will not hamper his ambitions, because he will have the full support of the Guinness family. If it had not been for the friendly relations that have existed so long between himself and Sir Thomas he would have issued a challenge twelve months ago, but he agrees that Sir Thomas has first call on the challenge.

GOOD FOLK

Told Undeniable Truths by a New York Protestant.

In a recent issue of Life we find the following from J. P. Lucas, with whom all true Americans can agree: "While there are so many good folks, in their own way, ranting about the religious beliefs of our aspirants to political office, why is it that all seem to like to take a peck at the Roman Catholic? It's funny. It's to laugh. Especially when the most bitter declare they're the only ones who are saving the country. Were not the Puritans, the Quakers, the Huguenots and other creeds forced to come to the lands of the Indian for religious freedom? So why should one sect be entitled to more than the other? We hear a lot about how Roman Catholics are driving the country to the dogs. But who made these United States possible? Wasn't it Catholic France, when the men of 1776 were down and out, that sent her war vessels, her soldiers, her generals and money to us and saved us, while Lutheran Germany's Hessian troops and England's were trying to crush us under foot? My ancestors have been on these shores since the day they arrived with William Penn, and they fought and bled to make these United States, but they did no more, and today are doing no more, to make the eagle scream than are our Roman Catholic citizens."

NINE DAYS.

Wide Interest in Race Meeting at Churchill Downs.

Everywhere throughout the country there is a marked interest in the fall meeting of the New Louisville Jockey Club at Churchill Downs, which opens Monday and closes Wednesday, October 16. From all sections will come people to witness the running on the opening day of the endurance stakes, a four-mile race in which are entered the star horses of the American turf. This will be the most notable and exciting race ever witnessed in this country and will be contested for by a big field. There will be six high class races every day, all the purses being $500 and over. Wednesday the Cherokee selling stakes will be run and on Saturday the Falls City handicap will be decided. President Grainger and Manager Matt Winn have arranged a meeting that will maintain the record of Churchill Downs, which have been improved and put in splendid shape. Charles F. Price will be the presiding judge, which is a guarantee that each race will be fair. Though the meeting is of short duration it should prove the best in the history of racing in Kentucky.

BABES IN THE SNOW.

One of the most curious customs of the Laplanders is the manner of taking the babies to church. The mothers go regularly, even when they have very tiny babies. Sometimes they ride ten or fifteen miles in a sleigh drawn by reindeer. They all have warm clothes on, the baby in particular. Oftentimes it is wrapped in bearskins. As soon as the family arrives at the little church and the reindeer is secured, Father Lapp shovels a snug little bed of snow and Mother Lapp wraps baby snugly in skins and lays it down there. Then Father Lapp piles the snow all around it and the parents go into the church. Over twenty or thirty of these babies lie out there in the snow around the church and I never heard of one that was suffocated or frozen. The snow does not make them cold; for when it covers a person all over, if he has clothing enough so that it will not melt and wet him, it will keep him warm. The little babies are not strong enough to knock the snow aside and get away, so they just lie still there and go to sleep. When church is out the father goes to where the baby is and puts his hands down into the snow and pulls the baby out and shakes off the snow; then the reindeer trots off, a good deal faster than a horse, and takes them all home again.

FIGHTING FORCE.

In event of war the United States could raise an army of 20,473,634 men, according to the last figures obtained by the Census Bureau. There were that many males of military age, between eighteen and forty-four years, in the country.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.

Metal trimmings are one of the new hat features. Braid is used in limited quantities only on tailored suits. Nearly all the new fall hats are noticeable for the soft effects. Stocks of black satin and white shadow lace are in great favor. Woolen embroidery is being used on children's hats and dresses. It is certain that moire will be much seen in autumn tailormades. Plaited lace revers and cuffs appear on some of the prettiest waists. Some of the new hats for fall are of white silk plush or heavy corded silk. Among the new neckwear sailor collars are seen, both large and small. The two-piece tunic overblouses continue to show apron and postilion effects. Some of the new white hats have big black velvet bows perched on their brims. A bright, strong plum color is one of the favorite shades for the coming season. The bolero has reappeared with plaited skirt, but it is also worn with plain ones. Nothing is smarter for a young girl's school frock than a box plaited serge with removable cuffs and patent leather belt.

POWERFUL LOCOMOTIVE.

The most powerful locomotive in the world has just been built by the American Locomotive Company for the Virginian railroad. It can haul 155 loaded fifty-ton capacity goods trucks at ten miles an hour. It has sixteen driving wheels. The locomotive and tender weigh 752,000 pounds, and the firebox is large enough to hold a shunting locomotive.

THOSE HAT-COVERED EYES.

"Times have changed." "They have, indeed. In my day a young fellow looked into a girl's eyes and told her that he loved her, but now he can't carry out that program if she happens to have her hat on. The prevailing style of a woman's upper story, therefore, makes an artistic proposal strictly an indoor performance."

KNEW HIS OWN VALUE.

Two new negro men came up to the outskirts of a crowd where a candidate for office was making a campaign speech. After listening to the speech for about ten minutes one of them turned to his companion and asked: "Who am dat man, Sambo?" "Ah don't know what his name am," Sambo replied, "but he certainly do recommen' hisself most highly."

DELICIOUS FOR SUPPER.

Have you ever tried frying your tomatoes with bacon? It makes a delicious dish for light supper. Fry your bacon until it becomes nice and brown and crispy. Have your tomatoes cut up in rather thick slices, sprinkle lightly with sugar and fry in the fat left from the bacon. Use a little butter if necessary. Place the tomatoes in the center of a large dish with the bacon placed around the edges.

THINK OF IT.

Every week that we begin may be the week during which we are going to be buried—and almost forgotten. The sentence of death is passed on all of us by the fact of birth.

POPE PIUS

Reports of the Eucharistic Congress Fills His Heart With Joy.

"The more detailed are the reports I receive about the Eucharistic Congress at Vienna the more my heart is filled with joy," Pius X. is said to have exclaimed. Cardinal Van Rossum, as Papal Legate to the congress, sent the Pontiff an autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph in answer to that which the Pope wrote to him accrediting the Legate at Vienna. The Holy Father is also greatly pleased at seeing how all the countries of the world were represented at the congress, including America, which had there, besides a considerable number of ecclesiastics, one of the Pope's private Chamberlains of the Cape and Sword, Marquis Martin Maloney, of Philadelphia, who is expected early next year for his turn of duty at the Vatican. The next Eucharistic Congress will be held in Malta, and Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, will probably be the Papal Legate. Such a concourse is expected that, owing to the impossibility of housing all the guests at the hotels of the capital, Valletta, it is planned to charter steamers, transporting those who go to the congress from various countries, and have the steamers remain in the harbor to serve as a habitation until the congress is over. In this way there will be one or more steamers from the United States, one from Ireland, one from England, etc.

ROSARY.

The Virtue of This Most Excellent Catholic Devotion.

October is dedicated by Mother Church to devotion to the holy rosary. The virtue of this excellent devotion of the rosary consists not in the often repeated Our Father and Hail Mary, as though we should be heard for our much speaking, but in the pious reflection of the mind upon the mysteries to which they have reference, in devout meditation upon them, and in sweet affections toward God raised in us by their contemplation. In this we should imitate the Psalmist, who mused within himself till the fire kindled, and then he spoke with his tongue. Let us likewise muse upon these mysteries till the fire of divine love kindles within us, and then we may profitably use the vocal prayer of the rosary. It will be better than to say a single mystery than to run over all the beads, repeating each Our Father and Hail Mary after the other without stopping, in the hope that thus the fire will be kindled within us in proportion to the ground we get over.

KIND ACTS PAY.

A few little kindnesses done for an old lady several years ago were amply repaid when Miss Louise Madden, a seventeen-year-old girl who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Madden, on a farm near Boulder, Col., received word that $10,000 had been bequeathed to her in the will of George Hanson, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Hanson, who was twenty-seven years old and rich, died in Brooklyn a month ago from the effects of fever contracted in Mexico.

Miss Madden, who came to Colorado with her parents nearly three years ago, formerly resided in a little suburb of Brooklyn, the principal residents of which were factory workers. At that time the aged mother of Hanson lived next door to the Maddens. Louise, then a small girl, helped the old lady in her housework and performed various acts of kindness for her.

Hanson at that time was in Mexico prospecting. He struck it rich, but contracted a severe fever in the southern country. He sold his mining claims for a large sum and returned to his mother in Brooklyn.

In the meantime the Maddens had moved West. When her son returned Mrs. Hanson told him of the kindness shown her. He was so well pleased that he determined to remember Miss Madden in his will.

Miss Madden was too modest to discuss her good fortune when interviewed. She hesitatingly admitted that the sum was far in excess of the amount of money she had hoped to amass during her entire life.

"I really never did anything worth mentioning for Mrs. Hanson," she said. "We were neighbors and I used to help her a little because she was old and sick."

According to the will Miss Madden does not receive the principal until she becomes of age. During the five years she is forced to wait she will receive the interest.

HELPS AROUND HOUSE.

Chicken fat is far better than butter to use in making a white sauce when creaming chicken.

If a curtain or portiere pole is rubbed with hard soap before being put up the draperies will slip on easily.

Dates and figs cut in small pieces and served with plenty of sugar make a tasty accompaniment to a dish of rice boiled in milk.

Cheese may be kept soft and good for a long time if wrapped in a cloth wrung out in vinegar and then wrapped again in dry cloth.

Whole wheat or brown bread cut into very thin slices and spread with unsalted butter is tasty served with oysters on the half shell.

Strange as it may seem, beef may be kept for months if immersed in sour milk. The lactic acid destroys the germs of putrefaction.

Scraps of toilet soap should be saved and when half a cupful or so is on hand it is a good plan to make the scraps into a soap jelly.

Always lower the temperature of the oven somewhat fifteen or twenty minutes after a roast has been placed in it. This will insure that the juices be retained.

On rainy days, when it becomes necessary to dry clothes within doors, use your theoretical knowledge that heat rises and hang them as high up as possible.

Mrs. John Arthur, State President, will soon institute a fine auxiliary at Newcastle, Ind.

Division 3 meets Monday night. The proceedings will be interesting and important.

In Indianapolis the auxiliaries are planning a celebration of St. Bridget's day that will rival that of St. Patrick's day.

With a band of twenty-five pieces the Hibernian Knights will lead their division in the Cathedral dedication parade at Denver.

Illinois Hibernians favor the insurance proposition. Members should give this question consideration before the referendum vote.

Division 2 of Buffalo, which two years ago had only a few faithful followers, has now a membership of over 300 and a substantial treasury.

Col. J. P. Sullivan was the unanimous choice for another term as State President at the Louisiana State convention held at New Orleans.

MOURN HER DEATH.

A fine Catholic Irish woman passed away when Mrs. Hannah Hickey, widow of the late James Hickey, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William Add, 31 Avery street, after an illness of two years.

Since her girlhood she had lived in this city and was widely known for her lovable and charitable disposition. She is survived by three sons, Michael J. and John Hickey, of this city, and James Hickey, of Chicago, and three daughters, Mrs. Mary Wales, wife of Lieut. Wales, of the police department; Mrs. Nellie Mudd and Mrs. Hannah Faust. Her funeral took place Sunday afternoon from Holy Name church, Rev. Father O'Connor officiating at the solemn obsequies. A long concourse followed the remains to St. Louis cemetery, where they were laid beside her beloved husband.

COSTLY PAULIST CHURCH.

The Paulist Fathers of New York City are perfecting their plans to build a $100,000 church, a school and a monastery on newly acquired property in North Manhattan. According to the announcement made by the Right Rev. John J. Hughes, Superior General of the order, the order had been quietly buying property for this purpose, and it was only a short time ago that the deed was signed for the last plot of ground upon which is to be erected the new group of buildings. The Paulist Fathers have bought twenty-two lots opposite the new Isham Park. Their property has a frontage of 200 feet in Broadway, 200 feet in Cooper street and 236 feet in Isham street. The proposed church will be known as the Church of the Good Shepherd. The work is in charge of the Rev. Thomas Daily, who has been appointed rector by the Superior General. It is planned to make the new church one of the most imposing Catholic churches in the city. It will be a massive granite building, built on the general lines of the great Paulist church on Fifty-ninth street, but a more modern building. Connected with the church will be the monastery, and separated from it and on the other end of the land will be built the school house. The school will cost $60,000, and the monastery $50,000.

LEXINGTON.

The city of Lexington was given a sad shock when the news spread that John J. McKenna, Deputy City Assessor, who for many years has been one of the most active young Democratic politicians of that city, and who was well known all over the State, dropped dead at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening while standing upon the sidewalk at the corner of Mill and Short streets talking to James Hand, Superintendent of the Tarr distillery. Immediately after he fell Mr. McKenna was taken into the saloon of Ryan & McKenna, of which he was part owner, and placed in a room upstairs, while several physicians were quickly summoned. In the opinion of the physicians called in death was due to apoplexy. He was about thirty-eight years old and was the son of James McKenna, of Lexington. He is survived by his parents and three brothers, Charles, James and Thomas McKenna.
